

“Future of Agriculture in Washington” Poster Contest Winners

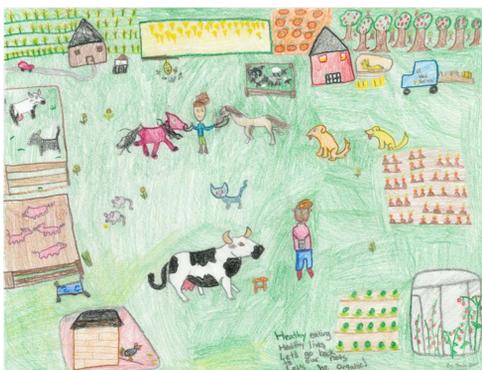

Nicole Rolls, 5th Grade, Contest Winner!

“The 100 behind Washington is like a robotic 100 and there is a rocket powered jet tractor and the rest is just parts of Washington. But I tried to show the hidden future.”

Congratulations to Nicole Rolls, 5th grader at East Farms School, overall contest winner, and to each of our runners up in the following categories.

Runners up:

Best Artistic Design and Most Facebook Fans

Tayla Blair, 5th Grade

“I think we should all go back to the basics. I feel our lives and planet would be healthier if we grew organic produce and raised organic meats. Let’s go back to our roots!”

Best Display of Washington Agriculture

Nicole Chen, 5th Grade

“All the fruits and vegetables that are planted in Washington State.”

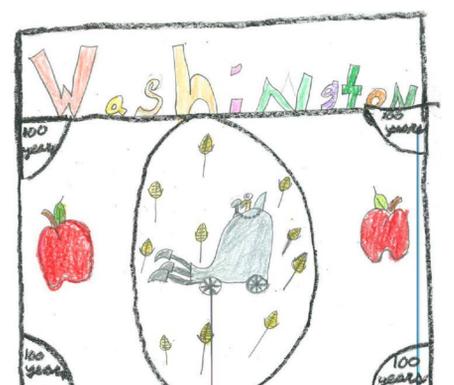

Most Futuristic

Rachel Ratautas, 5th Grade

“The Washington state, fruits, and future, also much more.”

Best Representation of Centennial

Taner Smith, 5th Grade

“There is (100 years) in the corners. Washington is at the top. There is a futuristic tractor in the middle. 2 apples and corn are for the agriculture part.”

Washington
State Department of Agriculture

Serving Washington agriculture and the public since 1913